GET TO KNOW THE ENEMY

If you haven't fought a droid yet, you soon will. It's important to know the different kinds of droids, or clankers as your fellow clone troopers call them, and what their abilities and weapons are.

B1 BATTLE DROIDS

Battle droids are tall humanoids with exposed joints that give them an eerie resemblance to animated skeletons. The battle droid infantry is frightening in its uniformity—only numerical markings on the back of their comlinks serve to distinguish one droid from another. Droids with specialized functions have distinct colored markings on their armor. Blue denotes pilot droids. Red denotes security droids. Yellow denotes command droids, which function with increased autonomy compared to the standard infantry.

Main Weapon: E-5 blaster rifle

B2 SUPER BATTLE DROIDS

These droids are upgraded versions of the B1 battle droids with superior weapons and armor. Their design offers much more protection from enemy fire. Small dual laser cannons are mounted on their forearms. They can use external weaponry, however, their larger hands make it difficult to use smaller blasters. Instead, they are equipped with special blaster rifles that respond to signal emitters built into their hands.

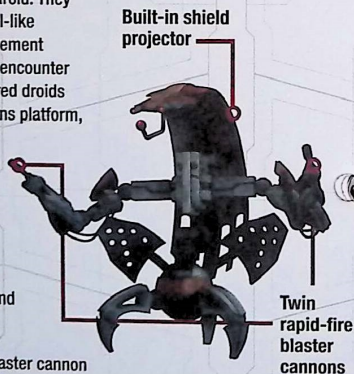

Main Weapon: Dual built-in laser cannons

DESTROYER DROID

These are a type of heavy battle droid. They are able to transform into a wheel-like configuration, allowing rapid movement and compact storage. When they encounter their targets, the bronzium-armored droids unfold into a three-legged weapons platform, equipped with powerful, built-in twin rapid-fire blasters complete with personal shield generators. These shield generators can endure much punishment and are capable of deflecting and absorbing light artillery bolts, physical attacks, and even lightsabers.

Main Weapon: Twin rapid-fire blaster cannon

KNOW YOUR WEAPONS

As a clone trooper, you will need to be skilled in using many different kinds of weapons.

BLASTERS

DC-15 blaster:
the main weapon of the clone troopers

DC-17 hand blaster:
a heavy blaster pistol used by captains and commanders

RIFLES

DC-15 blaster rifle: a larger, more powerful, long-range version of the DC-15 blaster

Z-6 rotary blaster cannon: a powerful, rotating blaster cannon chain gun

SHIPS IN THE REPUBLIC FLEET

REPUBLIC ATTACK GUNSHIP

Designed for aerial-based support and infantry transportation and capable of carrying up to thirty troopers.

Weapons: Anti-personnel laser turrets; composite-beam laser turrets; mass-driver missile launchers; light air-to-air rockets

- Can carry four speeder bikes
- Anti-personnel laser turrets
- Crew: pilot, co-pilot/gunner, and two rear gunners

BTL-B Y-WING STARFIGHTER

The Y-wing starfighter is used as a fighter-bomber. It is designed to fight its way to its objective, deliver its payload of high explosives, and fight its way out again.

Weapons: Medium laser cannons; double light ion cannons; MG7 proton torpedo launcher (10 torpedoes)

- Hyperdrive engine
- Bubble turret
- Astromech droid socket

VENATOR-CLASS STAR DESTROYER

A popular warship of the Republic fleet, it is heavily armed and armored enough to lead massive assaults and fast enough to chase down blockade runners.

Weapons: Eight heavy turbolasers; two medium dual turbolasers; fifty-two laser cannons; four proton torpedo launchers; six tractor beam projectors

- Carries 192 V-19 Torrent starfighters, 192 Jedi starfighters, 36 ARC-170s, and 20 attack gunships
- Its eight turbolasers are its main weapons
- Has a crew of 7,400

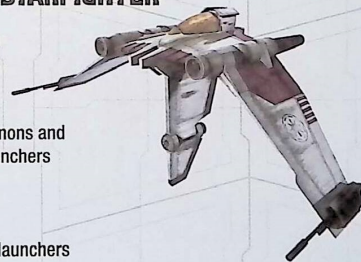

V-19 TORRENT STARFIGHTER

An assault fighter with exceptional speed and maneuverability.

Weapons: Blaster cannons and concussion missile launchers

- Hyperdrive engine
- Blaster cannons
- Concussion missile launchers

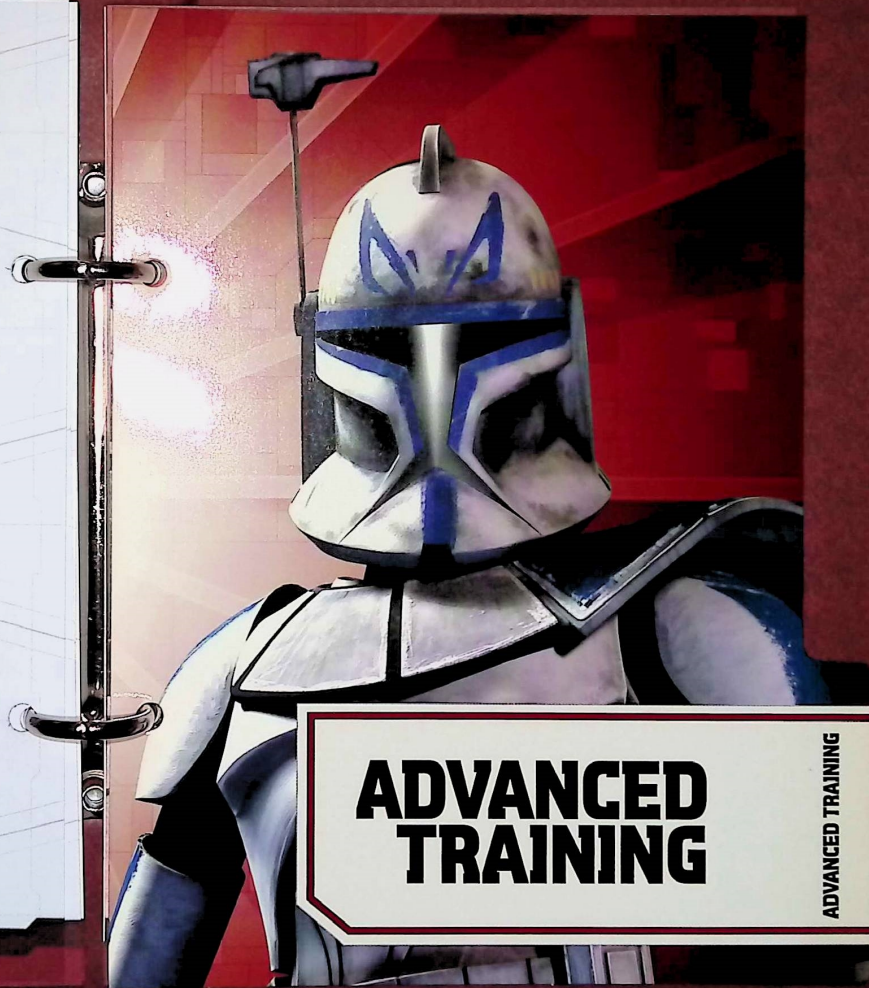

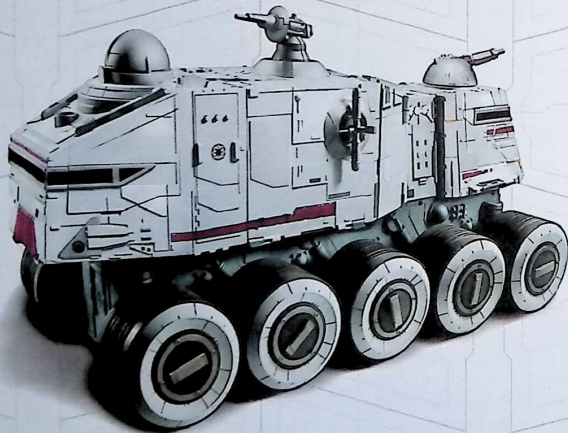

HAVW A6 JUGGERNAUT (TURBO TANK)

This ten-wheeled tank has the ability to move over rough terrain.

Weapons: Heavy laser cannon turret; rapid repeating laser cannon, two medium laser cannons; two twin blaster cannons; two rocket/grenade launchers

- Can hold over five battalions of clone troopers
- A small pod above the vehicle's back allows a spotter to keep lookout for enemy forces
- Carries a complement of close-support craft, like speeder bikes and light airspeeders

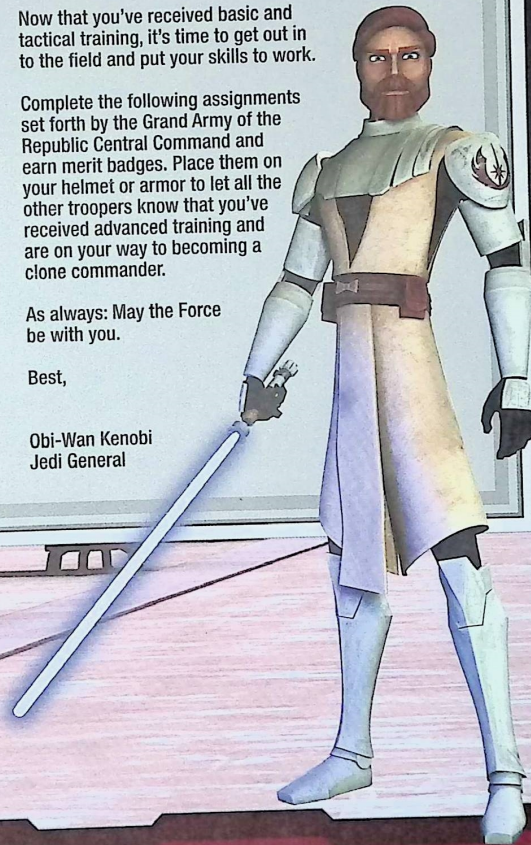

Now that you've received basic and tactical training, it's time to get out in the field and put your skills to work.

Complete the following assignments set forth by the Grand Army of the Republic Central Command and earn merit badges. Place them on your helmet or armor to let all the other troopers know that you've received advanced training and are on your way to becoming a clone commander.

As always: May the Force be with you.

Best,

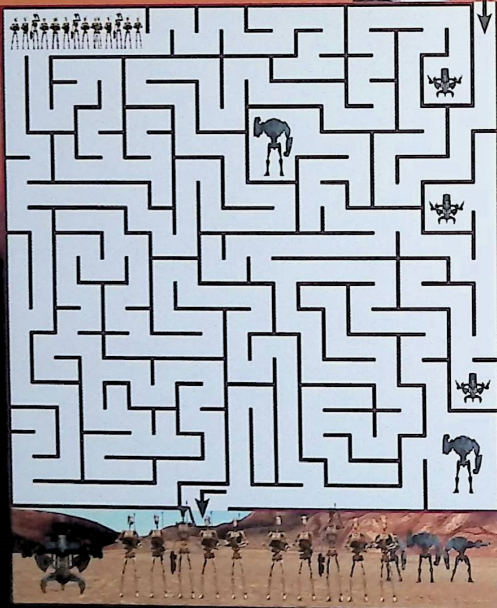

Obi-Wan Kenobi
Jedi General

RECON BADGE

Your sergeant has ordered you to find out where the battle droids have set up camp.

Follow the maze to see if you can find the droids without getting caught.

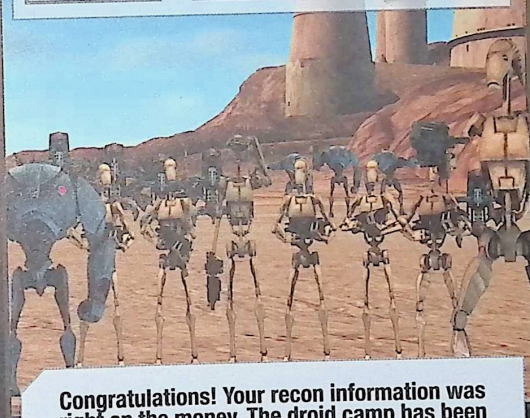

You've found the droid camp. You need to radio back to your sergeant and tell him how many of each droid there are. Can you tell the different droid models apart?

Mark down the number of each type of droid and radio the information back to your squad.

Congratulations! Your recon information was right on the money. The droid camp has been destroyed thanks to your quick thinking.

PILOT BADGE

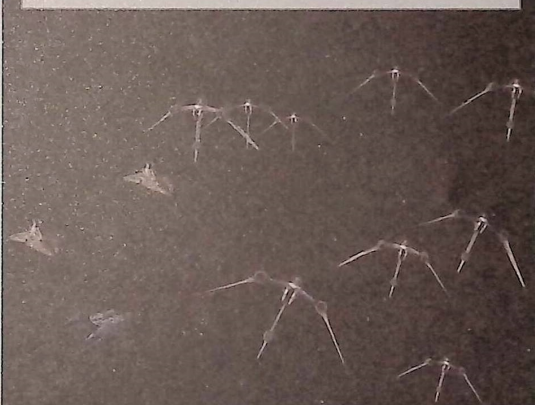

Becoming a pilot is one of the most difficult jobs in the whole clone army. It requires a keen eye and lightning fast reflexes. Do you think you have what it takes?

Using the star chart below, connect the stars to reveal the hidden message.

"Trooper, an enemy ship has just entered your area," your sergeant calls over the comlink. "We need you to shoot it down."

You sit in the cockpit of your V-19 Torrent starfighter and take aim. Can you pick out the ship that is NOT part of the Republic fleet?

Congratulations, you defeated the enemy ship.
The fleet is safe.

Pilot Badge!

COMMUNICATIONS BADGE

The communications officer is a vital part of every mission. It is their job to relay information from command centers to the troops on the ground.

Part of being a clone trooper is being a weapons expert. There are many different kinds of weapons and it's your job to be able to recognize each one.

Can you spot which two DC-15 blasters are identical?

You also need to be familiar with enemy weapons and vehicles. Can you match the picture of the Separatist Armored Assault Tank to its shadow?

Congratulations, you have proven yourself to be a true expert.
